

Some species which are now common were not seen thirty years ago. Species not seen in the last ten years are excluded. The list is based on latest completed years of records; to go back in time to when observations were made over the last forty years would complicate it, as there have been movements of bird species. The first column is for you to tick what you have seen or heard. The second column is the the Roberts Bird Number: The third is the names. Birds are listed in Roberts' Bird Book Number sequence.
